

BIO

Hal Halladay

CEO Breakthrough Leadership and TEDx speaker

Hal Halladay empowers organizations to innovate and drive business growth through coaching and leadership. He provides unique leadership development experiences that achieve breakthrough results and that unlock and expand leadership capabilities in high-growth companies. He is a TEDx speaker and creator of the leadership empathy principle the “Black Rock.”

Hal served as a C-level executive in high growth companies for 20+ years and worked as an investment banker in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco. He received a BA from the University of Utah and an MBA from the University of Chicago Booth School of Business. Hal is a father of four and a grandfather.