

How to perform express financial statement analysis of a company?

Workshops

Financial health is one of the best indicators of a company's potential in a long run. During this workshop you will learn how to read and analyze financial statements in a quick way. We will go through the key financial statements in order to understand the financial strengths and weaknesses of a company to help us make informed decisions. By the end of the workshop you will have basic knowledge of how to quickly go through the key financial statements – balance sheet and income statement – in order to analyze a company from the point of view of a creditor and investor. Therefore, this workshop will take you from the first step of understanding the relation between some elements of financial statements, through calculating and analyzing basic financial ratios that can be used for further decision making.